Our mission: To offer all people opportunities to renew, refresh, and nurture their spirit, mind, and body.

What does a Military Family R&R Program visit include?

Every OEF/OIF service member and their family are welcome to a one-time stay - including use of in-season facilities and programs - for up to one week at Silver Bay as lodging accommodations allow. Reservations are provided on a first come, first served basis throughout the year. If accommodations are not available for dates requested by the service member, other available dates will be offered.

What is the cost of the stay to the service member and family?

Military Family R&R Program guests are welcome to a one-time stay for up to one week with no cost to the service member and/or family, although contributions are appreciated when possible. Silver Bay programs that require additional fees, such as Children's Silver Camp and Teen Programs (6 weeks – 18 years), climbing wall, Silver Spray tours, or craft shop supplies will be the responsibility of the MF R&R guests.

Who is eligible to visit Silver Bay under this program?

Active Duty, Reserve, National Guard, or Veteran members of the armed forces (Navy, Marine Corps, Army, Air Force, or Coast Guard) who served in Operation Enduring Freedom (OEF) or Operation Iraqi Freedom (OIF) and their immediate family members. Widows/widowers and immediate family of those service members who died in OEF/OIF service are also eligible. Other guests are welcome at regular Silver Bay rates.

Who is considered immediate family?

Silver Bay defines immediate family as dependent family members living in a household that are claimed on a person's IRS form. Single persons may bring one guest or immediate family, his/her parents and siblings that are defined above as immediate family in the parents' household.

What is required for proof of OEF/OIF service?

Any service member serving OEF/OIF should have a copy of their military orders stating their deployment. If for some reason the service member does not have a copy of his or her orders, then a letter on official command letterhead from the service member's Military Unit Command stating their deployment, with dates of deployment included, must be provided. Widows/widowers should have a copy of their spouses DD214 and/or Form 1300. No service member without such proof will be eligible for this program.
